

Student's Bill of Rights

1. You have the right to remain silent –the government cannot force you to affirm or approve any relationship or proposition that violates your sincerely held beliefs.
2. You have the right to speak out- to express your beliefs and opinions at school, even when those beliefs and opinions do not align with those of the government, in the same manner and on the same basis as others are allowed to express their beliefs and opinions, whether religious or secular.
3. You have the right to distribute literature during non-instructional time on the same basis as other students may distribute their literature.
4. You have the right to wear expressive clothing with a religious or political message on the same basis as other students may wear expressive clothing with a secular message.
5. You have the right to express your beliefs and opinions on your own time in any manner you deem appropriate, regardless whether your school or fellow students find them offensive and regardless of a school's off-campus social media policy.
6. You have the right to receive truth, and not propaganda.
7. You have the right to associate with other like-minded students and to form clubs on the basis of your beliefs, whether religious or secular, on the same basis as other students may form clubs and associate with like-minded fellow students.
8. You have the right to official recognition of your club by the school on the same basis as other student clubs, regardless of whether your club is religious or is based upon an unpopular position.
9. You have the right to be free from indoctrination.
10. You have the right to petition the school and ask for relief for your grievances.
